PREFACE

In printing this little volume for private circulation, I have been actuated by two motives. The first, to me, the most important, is to offer to my relatives and friends, an humble memorial in honor of my dear parents. This has for sometime impressed itself upon me as a duty which I owe that must be fulfilled. After our parents are gone we more earnestly reflect upon the proper care and attention we owed them in life, we think of the many things we might have done to aid them, and cheer them, and make their lives happier, but alas! it is then too late.

Those fortunate enough to have their parents with them, cannot lay up a store of happiness greater than that which they will find in the remembrance of having devoted a large share of their time to caring for their parents. To honor, love and respect our parents is the highest attribute of the human heart. Irrespective of divine knowledge or teaching, that attribute exists, not alike in all persons of course, for the heart of the pauper is often more susceptible to it than that of the Prince.

The second motive for this work, is to preserve and save the family history from becoming lost. Much of the earlier history of the Newkirk family was worked out years ago by Dr. A. B. Newkirk, of Los Angeles, Cal. He is a son of Dr. Absalom B. Newkirk, who was a son of Henry Newkirk, a brother of our grandfather, Shipman Newkirk. In recent years the author of this work has been assisting Dr. Newkirk in compiling his geneology of the Newkirk family in America, and that work will soon be brought forth after many years of labor.

For much information and assistance in working out the early history of the Bayless family, the valuable services rendered by Miss Bell Bayless, of Kingston, Ga., are recognized and appreciated.

It will be noticed that there are a few families in this work not completed. No amount of importuning could induce the members, such as were found—of those families—to impart the necessary information to complete the work as to their families.

It has been well said that "Many things are lost to us, which were known to our grandfathers, and our grandchildren will search in vain for things which to us are most familiar." It may be that the information gathered in these pages will be highly regarded by future generations, and I believe that people can make no better use of a few of their spare moments, than to devote them to writing out, for transmission to their children, complete family records, including brief sketches of members of the family, with important events and happenings. Those who care nothing about their ancestry, are growing less in numbers each year.

This work is compiled correctly from the information as furnished. Should any persons feel that more space should have been devoted to themselves, or relatives, their attention is called to the fact, that the author, in that respect, has been as liberal with others as he has been to himself.

Many happy new acquaintances have been formed, and old ones renewed, in seeking information for this work, and what has been accomplished and offered in these pages, is laid upon the family altar, as a tribute of love and respect which the author bears to his kindred.

THOMAS J. NEWKIRK.

THE NEWKIRK FAMILY

The Newkirk family is an ancient one, and, like most other families of Teutonic origin, the name has undergone many changes in its long journey to its present way of spelling with but seven letters. The first authentic record of any member of this family is found in the histories of the Lower Rhine regions of Germany, there being towns named Neukirchen in both the Counties of Grevenbrock and Moers.

We find the name Newkirk mentioned in a document as early as 1153 and from 1337 to 1350 many of the Newkirks were property owners in their native places in Germany. The name most generally appears as Neukirchen, and by this name we find many German arrivals in this country, even to the present day. In 1599 we find Gottfried Neukirch mentioned and Arnold Heinrich Neukirk, professor of Theology, is mentioned historically about the same time.

The writers on the subject of heraldry advise us about our shield, and coat of arms. One of these writers has contributed the following to our family lore:

"VAN NEUKIRCHEN, called NYVENHEIM.

"The continuous line of this very old family of Julich, begins with the ancestor John Von Neukirchen, Lord of Neuraidt in Oclen, who married, in 1403, Anna Van Nyvenheim, heiress of Gerode, by reason of which it came to pass that their descendants bore the united names and arms of both families. From Julich the family went to the Lower Rhine, acquired in the course of time many hereditary offices, and much wealth, and furnished a number of Knights and Commanders to the German Order. One branch removed to the Netherlands, while the other remained in the Rhine region. Walter Godfried van Neukirchen, called Nyvenheim, in the thirteenth generation of the continuous geneologic, Lord of Drieberg, Kessel, Mook and Musschienborg, was, by his wife, Elberyina Van Tengnagel van Gillikum, whom he married in 1703, the ancestor of the present branch of the family living in France."

Thus it is seen that our family of ancient origin had spread to three countries, Germany, France and Holland, many centuries ago. The branch of the family to which we trace our lineage located in Holland, but at what date has not been ascertained, it is our belief, however, that the family had resided in Holland for more than two hundred years before our progenitor came to America.

The date of the coming of the Newkirk family to the United States is definitely fixed. Garret Cornelissen Van Nieuwkercke, who with his "wife, boy and sucking child," arrived on the Holland ship "Moesman," April 25, 1659, was the first. He was a son of Mattheuse Cornelissen Van Nieuwkercke, of Slechtenhorst, Gelderland, Holland, born about 1600. The date of the birth of Garret has not yet been secured, but it was about 1635. He married Chieltje (Charlotte) Cornelis. Upon his arrival in this country he located at Flatbush, Long Island, and secured a small tract of land which he sold March 10, 1665. This tract consisted of eighteen morgens,—thirty-six acres,—is in the heart of the City of Brooklyn, and there are buildings on some of it costing millions of dollars. Newkirk street runs through the tract, and that is all that is left to show that Garret ever lived thereabouts. After selling his land at Flatbush, Garret located at Hurley, Ulster County, N. Y., where he and wife died at dates unknown.

Among Garret's children was a son, Cornelis Gerritz Van Nieuwkercke, born in Holland about 1658, and he was, no doubt, the "sucking child" mentioned in the list of arrivals. He married, September 16, 1683, Jennetje Kunst, born February 24, 1664, daughter of Jan Barrentsen Kunst and wife, Jakemyntje Cornelis Slegt, daughter of Cornelis B. Slegt. Jan Barrentsen Kunst was a son of Barent Kunst, was born at Alkmaar, Holland, was a house carpenter and come to America on the ship Guilded Beaver, in 1658. Another daughter of Jan Barrentsen, Hellete Kunst, married Nicholas Roosevelt and they are the ancestors of Theodore Roosevelt, Ex-President of the United States.

Among the children of Cornelis Gerritz Van Nieuwkercke, was Barent, born October 13, 1689. He dropped the "Van" in his name and cut out a few surplus letters. The account of his marriage in the old Dutch Church at Kingston, N. Y., is as follows:

> "Barent Nieuwkerk, young man resideing under the jurisdiction of Horley (Hurley), and Rebecca Van Buntscooten, young woman resideing in Kingston." Married May 23, 1713.

Rebecca was a daughter of Teunis Van Buntscooten, a Hollander, many of whose descendants have achieved distinction in the State of New York.

Barent seems to have resided in New York until about 1722 when he went to New Jersey. He was a carpenter and millwright, and, no doubt, worked at his trade about the country until in 1735, when we find him located on a large farm, which he had purchased, about eight miles north of the present City of Martinsburg, W. Va. Here he died in 1768. He left a will in which he mentions part of his children.

Among the children of Barent Newkirk, was Abraham, born October 19, 1724. He married Kezia, daughter of Teunis Shipman. How long Abraham lived in West Virginia is unknown, but his son, Henry, born February 2, 1768, recorded in his bible that he was born in Virginia. We next find Abraham in Washington County, Pa. He was a Revolutionary soldier, as is attested by the following copy of certificate:

> "Harrisburg, Pennsylvania, U. S. A., Jany. 11, 1915. TO WHOM IT MAY CONCERN: I hereby Certify that one ABRAHAM NEWKIRK was a Private in Captain John Craven's Company, Fifth Battalion, Washington County, Militia. See P. 186, Volume Two, Pennsylvania Archives, Sixth Series.
> (SEAL) Luther R. Kelker, Custodian of the Public Records."

Abraham Newkirk, above, died in 1788 and is buried a short distance north of the Town of Bentleyville, Pa. Among his children was Abraham Newkirk, born March 10, 1764. In 1785 he married Margaret Knox, and soon after purchased a farm of 413 acres, known as the "LEGACY," from his cousin, Henry Newkirk. On March 28, 1816, he sold the last of this holding, and located in Adams County, Ohio. There his wife, Margaret, died July 8, 1823; he died October 5, 1840. They are buried at what is known as Hull Church, near Dunkinsville, Ohio.

SHIPMAN NEWKIRK

Among the children of Abraham and Margaret (Knox) Newkirk was Shipman Newkirk, born April 25, 1805, in Washington County, Pa.; came to Adams County, Ohio, with his parents in 1816, where he married Mary Bayless, born June 15, 1808, died March 5, 1873. She was a daughter of Daniel Bayless hereafter mentioned. About 1827, Shipman removed to Rush County, Ind., where he resided until his death, August 31, 1874. He owned a large, productive farm about eight miles north of Rushville, where he lived a happy, prosperous and contented life.

The children of Shipman Newkirk and wife were:

1	Daniel Bayless Newkirk	B. Jan. 1, 1825;	Adams County, Ind.
2	Mary Newkirk	B. June 12, 1829;	Rush County, Ind.
3	Sarah Jane Newkirk	B. Dec. 11, 1830;	Rush County, Ind.
4	Eliza J. Newkirk	B. Died in infancy;	Rush County, Ind.
5	William Riley Newkirk	B. Jan. 1, 1837;	Rush County, Ind.
6	Malinda J. Newkirk	B. Aug. 14, 1840;	Rush County, Ind.
7	Margaret A. Newkirk	B. July 21, 1845;	Rush County, Ind.
8	George Marshall Newkirk	B. Aug. 11, 1849;	Rush County, Ind.

DANIEL BAYLESS NEWKIRK, born Jan. 1, 1825; married Aug. 3, 1845, Polly Hamilton, born Jan. 1, 1829, hereafter mentioned. Soon after their marriage they moved to what was known as the Indian reserve, on the north line of Madison County, Ind. Here they secured a quarter section of land adjoining what is now the little town of Independence, better known as Rigdon. They built a small, round log cabin on the highest point they could find, and then and there started a battle with the wilderness for a home. Great walnut, poplar, ash, oak, hickory and maple trees, which would now be worth large sums of money, were felled, rolled into heaps and burned.

In this way small fields were soon made tillable, and the rich soil produced good crops. The forests abounded in wild game and all the early settlers were experts with their trusty rifles. There were no roads and few settlers in the start, but the country soon began to build up. A neat little three-roomed house soon took the place of the round log one, the fields became larger each year and the crops more abundant.

In every community there is some leading personage, and my father was of that class. He was appointed a Justice of the Peace Nov. 1, 1855. This was then regarded as a very important position. The execution of title papers and solemnizing marriages were duties devolving, to a great extent, upon that officer. On July 18, 1854, he was commissioned Capt. of Co. "M," 2nd Regt. 11th Military, Dist. of Indiana. He was very prominent in all the affairs of the newly developing country, and was constantly being consulted by his neighbors in the conduct of their business affairs. He soon acquired a large farm, and to meet a public necessity, engaged in the general mercantile business in the small town which had started up on the corner of his land. In this he was successful, but the bent of his inclination was the farm. His ancestors had been farmers for generations, and he cared for no other occupation.

As the years went by their lands reached a higher state of cultivation, and became more valuable, but there was a longing desire to be near their parents.

The desire to return to Rush County, and be near their parents, came to realization in the fall of 1869, when father purchased a large farm six miles northeast of Rushville. He exchanged a part of his Madison County, Ind., land in this purchase, which was soon followed by other exchanges and purchases, until he became, for the time being, the most extensive land owner in the county.

For many years he farmed his lands, but the time arrived for his health to begin to fail, and his possessions being too extensive for his personal supervision, he disposed of a large portion of his lands. A serious runaway accident in which he was so severely injured as to almost lose his life, and from the effects of which he never fully recovered, marked the end of his activity.

During all these years the married life of my parents had been one of happiness, love and devotion to each other. In temperament and feelings they had grown to be alike, and never did tenderness unite itself with more indulgence to human affection than in their case. Mother was a member of the Methodist Church and the possessor of a strong faith. In middle life she lost her hearing to such an extent that she was unable to hear the minister's voice, and she discontinued her church attendance. Father was not a member of any church, but was a believer in the teachings of Jesus Christ. He was of medium height and weighed slightly more than two hundred pounds. In youth, and early manhood, his hair was as black as the raven's wing. He was even-tempered, kind-hearted, and neither hated or envied any one. He had unbounded confidence in his fellowmen, and that confidence was often betrayed to his disadvantage.

The selection for their last resting place was a beautiful spot in East Hill Cemetery at Rushville. On Dec. 3, 1903, father passed away. A great number of relatives, friends and neighbors attended his funeral, and six large, strong men, all grandsons, bore him to his tomb. Eight years later, April 27, 1911, mother joined her companion of fifty-eight years. In the midst of relatives, kind friends and neighbors, and floral offerings of extraordinary size and beauty, she was born by the same six grandsons to the grave of her husband and placed by his side. The children of Daniel B. Newkirk and wife were:

THOMAS J. NEWKIRK

JAMES HAMILTON

But little has been learned of the ancestry of the Hamilton family, and was it not for the contents of a letter written by Robert Hamilton, son of James, to his nephew, William P. McCormack, in 1872, we would, doubtless, be without information at all. In this letter the writer says:

> "Grandfather Hamilton's family,—his name was Robert—consisted of one son and five daughters, their ages not known, except my father, born July 10, 1775. Grandfather and grandmother Hamilton were both born in Ireland and married there, but emigrated to America before they had any children born, about 1772. Grandfather Hamilton had but one brother, named James, he remained in Ireland. Grandfather Caldwell's family consisted of three sons and three daughters, two of the children born in Ireland, came to America about the year 1770, all of both parties settled in South Carolina and remained there until their children were all grown and married, my father was the first that left the state, August, 1812."

Knowing the accuracy with which Robert Hamilton spoke, the above version may be accepted as correct; but from other sources of information, it may be added that the father of Robert, the immigrant, was a Scotch presbyterian who had located in northern Ireland.

On Nov. 20, 1788, Robert Hamilton purchased one hundred acres of land on Cane Creek, Laurens County, S. C. On May 25, 1799, his son James purchased 227 acres on Little River, that county. On July 6, 1812, "James Hamilton, planter, and wife, Margaret," sold this tract of 227 acres, and we next find him in Fayette, County, Ind., and later in Rush County.

JAMES HAMILTON, born Laurens District, S. C., July 10,

1775; died in Shelby County, Ind., in 1857. On Nov. 24, 1796, he married Margaret Caldwell, born March 29, 1773; died Aug. 12, 1837. On Oct. 3, 1837, he married Elizabeth Walker-McBride, widow of James McBride, she was born in Wilkes County, N. C., May 7, 1803; died in Wells County, Ind., April 19, 1865. James Hamilton, though small in stature, was of the rugged frontier type, fearless, high tempered, of puritanic honesty and a devout Christian. In his old days his bible was his constant companion; he carried it with him often in his long ramblings between the homes of his children, and when foot sore and weary he would sit down by the roadside, read a chapter, and then pursue his journey. Like his father and grandfather, he was a presbyterian. The children of James were eight in number, as follows:

1	Robert Hamilton	B. Oct. 9, 1797; Laurens District, S. C.
2	Elizabeth Hamilton	B. Dec. 31, 1800; Laurens District, S. C.
3	James Hamilton	B. Nov. 29, 1803; Laurens District, S. C.
4	Polly Hamilton	B. Oct. 23, 1806; Laurens District, S. C.
5	Hugh Hamilton	B. Sept. 25, 1810; Laurens District, S. C.
6	Samuel Hamilton	B. June 21, 1813; Fayette County, Ind.
7	Francis Marion Hamilton	B. July 3, 1838; Rush County, Ind.
8	William Marshall Hamilton	B. Mar. 31, 1840; Rush County, Ind.

THE BAYLESS FAMILY.

The first authentic record of the Bayless, or Bayles, family, was the appearance of a refugee named Bayles at Colchester, England. He is said to have come from the Low Countries; family tradition says that he was a Huguenot and migrated from northern France to escape the death which overtook so many thousands of Huguenots at the massacre of St. Bartholomew Aug. 24, 1572. The family is found to have lived in Wales at about the same time.

The first of the name to arrive in this country was John Bayless born in England in 1617. He came to America in an English ship called the "True Love," arriving in 1635. He located at Jamaica, L. I., where he was a leading man in the community, holding various offices; he died in 1682 leaving a will in which he mentions his wife Rebecca, and his children, as follows: Sons, John, Elias, Thomas and Jonathan; and his daughters, Elizabeth Hubbard, Mary Hewlett, Demaris Lyons, Abigail Smith, Ruth Bayless and Rebecca Stillwell.

John Bayless, son of the first John, was born 1642, married March 12, 1665, Ruth Rusco, daughter of Samuel Rusco of Jamaica, L. I. Among their children was Daniel, born 1683, who located in Hunterdon County, N. J. He had at least three sons, Daniel, Samuel and John. Daniel was born Dec. 15, 1716, married Jan. 13, 1736, Joanna Lake, and in 1762 removed to Cecil County, Md., from there he went, about 1775, to Louden County, Va., and from there, about 1784, to what is now Washington County, Tenn., where he died. He had sons, Daniel 1737, John 1746, Elias 1748, Samuel 1751, Reuben 1754, Hezekiah 1757, and three daughters.

Daniel Bayless, son of Daniel and wife Joanna Lake, married Mary Burroughs, sold his land in Washington County, Tenn., Jan. 9, 1798, and located in Adams County, Ohio, where he bought land in 1802; he died there about 1822. His children were Stephen, Elias, Nathan, Daniel, John, Hezekiah, Phebe Baker, Eunice Dinning and Rebecca, who never married.

DANIEL BAYLESS, son of Daniel Bayless and wife, Mary Burroughs, was born May 16, 1775, in Maryland, died at Rigdon, Grant County, Ind., Dec. 20, 1864, married in Adams County, Ohio, Sarah Spurgeon, born May 29, 1784, died at Rigdon, Ind., Jan. 25, 1863. Daniel moved from Adams County, Ohio, to Rush County, Ind., about 1824, where he purchased a farm and followed the occupation of farming until about 1863 when he sold his farm and, with his wife, made their home with their nephew, Daniel Bayless Newkirk, at Rigdon, Ind., where they died. Their children were:

1	John Bayless	B. May 22, 1807; Adams County, Ohio.
2	Mary Bayless	B. June 15, 1808; Adams County, Ohio.
3	Daniel Bayless	B. Jan. 10, 1812; Adams County, Ohio.
